Art Holidays In France

Treat Yourself to an experience immersed in art and culture in the Nouvelle-Aquitaine region of South West France.

*Manoir La Breuille
Montmoreau Saint -Cybard
Charante*

Character and elegance combine art and leisure in this beautiful setting.

With its 12th century core present in the monumental pigeonier and soaring roofline, the elegant 19th century refurbishment and Edwardian farmhouse extension, set in landscaped grounds, the Manoir La Breuille is one of the prettiest venues in the Sud Charente area of South West France.

The art courses offered explore a range of disciplines and genre, for all interests and levels of ability, in a variety of media.

Historic architecture, set in beautiful landscapes, provides a backdrop for working en plein air on days out, or in the grounds. Combined with studio practice, from life and still life, the works you will create, will reflect local places, people and events, interpreted through drawing, painting and sculpture.

Whether to develop your existing abilities or to find a new direction for your work, you will receive expert group and one to one tuition to help you explore each subject of your choice and will receive guidance in creating your own work from conception to completion. Everything from a nudge to nurture.

All this with good food and excellent hospitality from our host, Barrie Andrews, will provide an enjoyable holiday experience to remember.

Working at La Breuille and at various fascinating locations throughout the area your artistic interests will not cease to be satisfied, or you or your partner can relax in or beside the swimming pool. The hotel has well-appointed rooms, each with en suite or full en suite facilities, in this elegant and characterful building.

The tuition is by well qualified professional artists/teachers and we are sure you will find the content and the courses inspiring, exciting and fulfilling.

Andrew Hope has attained a good reputation as a fluent communicator, delivering high quality and thought-provoking instruction in all aspects of figurative and non-figurative art. Using a range of techniques, he enables learners to develop their skills and understanding to reach their full potential. A lifetime of involvement in art, together with a thorough understanding of working in a 3D environment informs his approach to teaching art.
